

Five Virtues of Liberty

Prashant Gupta

December 24, 2013

As the dusk returns, people all around are preparing for a holiday break – its time to celebrate, rest and reflect the year that has just gone by. Tomorrow is a Christmas morning that every year rings the bells of ultimate sacrifice for love and in few days, the calendar year completes its full one circle around sun. Some are returning home for a family reunion, some on-board for an exciting vacation and for some its restful break. I hope you get a chance to reflect with words I share here... writing after almost 30 months.

O! Almighty, I pray to your glory and power
Please guide me on path to liberty ||~||

O! Almighty, why one pillar to freedom is parents
The truth of parents & siblings is love – the first virtue ||1||

O! Almighty, why one pillar to freedom is learning
The truth of learning is understanding – the second virtue ||2||

O! Almighty, why one pillar to freedom is parenting
The truth of parenting is patience – the third virtue ||3||

O! Almighty, why one pillar to freedom is beneficial change
The truth of social change is courage – the fourth virtue ||4||

O! Almighty, why one pillar to freedom is prayer
The truth of prayer is renunciation – the fifth virtue ||5||

O! Almighty, I pray for all to have five virtues of liberty
Let this prayer bring health and happiness for all & freedom be achieved ||~||
